Leadership Education

2007-2008 I was Wright State's representative to the Ohio Inter-University Academic Leadership Academy (OALA). My mentor was Lee Harrington, the chair of the Sociology & Gerontology department at Miami University of Ohio. This program is designed to prepare faculty for leadership roles in universities.

Scholarship

I study driving in order to examine the effects of race, gender and class on social behavior. I have constructed a new research agenda in the areas of the sociology of food, fitness and fatness. I am currently heading an interdisciplinary group working on a fitness climate survey at Wright State to assess our current state of fitness and to develop interventions to increase fitness levels for the entire community.

Candidate Statement:

During my tenure as Faculty President, my accomplishments included successfully increasing faculty input to the Campus Master Planning process, getting a new Faculty Constitution approved and moving the semester conversion process of curriculum along.

We face new challenges as we move to a semester system of instruction and a new budgeting model for fiscal management. It is more important than ever that faculty have a voice as we move forward as a university.

If elected, I promise to ensure that faculty views are well represented in all aspects of university governance.
