RE: Sports Science Admission Requirement Change and Public Health Education Admission Requirement Change

Date: April 10, 2019

Attached are requests for changes to the Admission Requirements for two programs. Sports Science and Public Health Education, both contained in the KNH department of the College of Education and Human Services have submitted these changes.

The Rationale statements are included and are clear as to the why these changes should be accepted. In both cases students will be able to enter the program sooner, thus decreasing a backlog in program applicant, and allow for academic advising to begin in a more timely manner for all students.

The submission memos were reviewed at the CEHS College Undergrad Curriculum and Policy Committee meeting held Wednesday April 10, 2019.

The submissions were approved as presented and are now being forwarded to your committee for review and consideration.

Thank you for your time

RE: Sports Science Admission Requirement Change

DATE: April 2, 2019

CURRENT SPORT SCIENCE (SS) PROGRAM ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS:

- 30 semester credit hours of college coursework
- Cumulative minimum GPA of 2.5
- 2 recommendation forms
- Interview with program faculty (as needed)

Deadline: March 1st of each year

PROPOSED CHANGE:

- Cumulative minimum GPA of 2.5
- Successful completion (C or above) of an introductory level class
  - For Health & Fitness Concentration: KNH 2410
  - For Sports Medicine Concentration: ATR 2610

Deadline: Students would be admitted at the end of each semester.

RATIONALE:

This proposed change would allow students intending Sports Science careers to enter the major sooner and would provide for more timely advising. This also would hopefully decrease the large back log of pre-sports science majors that currently exists.
